the excellent vaudeville, the balloon ascension and horse racing—were witnessed by an interested crowd Wednesday at Tuesday. The band played lively airs and the hawkers added to the din. An umbrella vendor was doing a thrifty business and found ready buyers when it first began to sprinkle. The balloon ascension was just as successful as Tuesday, although the big bag was carried up and over the grand stand and across the river away from the view of many within the main the crowd.

The first horse race to be called was the 2.14 trot or pace. Out of a field of saven entries but three horses responded to the starter and Elizabeth Sherman Barber, Jr., of South Coventry, and a daughter in New York state. Cattle day at the fair, the big day, was all that could be asked, although rain fell during the afternoon just enough to make things a bit disagrees able and sticky. The banner crowd in years was in attendance for a second day, however, and there was a good time for everybody.

BRIDGEPORT WON. Savings Institute Score Was 8 to 1 in Game Played Wednesday Morning.

The Colts did not fare so well Wed-esday forenoon on Windham field be-ore the Bridgeport nine, when the latter took the game easily by the score of S-1. The contest was a wretched exhibition of boots and wild heaves by the local physics and the strong came at very critical stages when they were very injurious to the slim chance that the Coits had. The story of the game could be sum-The story of the game could be summed up in a sentence—the trouble was that the locals were lamentably weak in pasting the pill, not being able to connect with Red Waller's spitters, which seemed to be all that he had. Ladd, a former Willimantic boy, ralieved the sandy haired youth in the last of the sixth inning and Waller took Ladd's place in center field, whills Whelan warmed the bench and Donnelly supported Ladd shelped the her Whelan warmed the bench and Donnelly supported Ladd behind the bat. Ladd was certainly the funny man and struck out three of the Colts and held them to only two hits, a slashing two-bagger by Smith over the center field fence just to the right of the tree and a nice single by Campion which was his second hit of the game.

Smith was again on the firing line appointed.

Smith was again on the firing line for the locals, but was poorly supported and allowed eight hits, although several of them should have been cut off with good sharp fielding. Manley was in right field and Peloquin was taking Shaun Sullivan's place in left, which was out of his line of hysicars.
